

Leave XM radio alone. They provide a great service and other broadcasters need to let the market decide who wins and not the government.